6. TYPE OF DEFINED BENEFIT PLAN:

TRADITIONAL (GO TO QUESTION #7)

Traditional Defined benefit plans are those plans in which an employer promises to pay a monthly benefit to the participant upon retirement according to the rules of the plan. The plan typically uses a formula that incorporates salary and years of service or a benefit multiplier and pension credits to calculate the monthly benefit payable upon retirement. The monthly benefit can be derived at any point in time by plugging the appropriate factors into the formula.

CASH BALANCE (GO TO QUESTION #8)

A Cash Balance plan is a defined benefit plan that defines the benefit in terms that are more characteristic of a defined contribution plan. In other words, a cash balance plan defines the promised benefit in terms of a stated account balance. In a typical cash balance plan, a "formula" is used to determine an employee's benefit. A participant's account is credited each year with a pay credit (such as 5 percent of compensation from his or her employer) and an interest credit (either a fixed rate or a variable rate that is linked to an index such as the one-year Treasury bill rate). Increases and decreases in the value of the plan's investments do not directly affect the benefit amounts promised to participants. Thus, the investment risks and rewards on plan assets are borne solely by the employer.

MONEY PURCHASE (GO TO QUESTION #9)

Money Purchase Plans contain individual participant accounts, but they are technically determined to be a defined benefit plan. This is because these plans have defined formulas for determining the participant's benefits that guarantee a specified and predetermined level of contributions each year which generate interest and earnings. These plans look like a traditional defined contribution plan because individual accounts are created for each participant.

7. FOR A TRADITIONAL DEFINED BENEFIT PLAN (Do not answer these questions if you will answer #8 or #9)

A. ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS ONLY IF THE PARTICIPANT IS RETIRED AND RECEIVING BENEFITS OTHERWISE SKIP TO 7B:

I. Percent or Dollar Amount of Employee's monthly retirement benefit to be paid by the Plan to the Alternate Payee?

Dollar Amount: $ _____

Percent: _____ %

_____ Option #1: Percent of Total as of the Date of Retirement: The Alternate payee will receive a percentage of the total accrued benefit as of the Date of Retirement. (This option includes any pre-marital and post-marital credited service).

_____ Option #2: Percent of the Marital Portion as of the Date of Retirement: The Marital Property Component shall be determined by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of months of credited service the Employee earned during the marriage and the denominator of which is the total number of months of credited service earned through the Date of Retirement.

II. Should the Alternate Payee receive a pro-rata share of any Post-retirement Cost of Living Adjustments if offered by the Plan?

_____ Yes _____ No

III. Should the Alternate Payee receive a pro-rata share of any Early Retirement Subsidies?

_____ Yes _____ No

(Most defined benefit pension plans have early retirement provisions that allow an employee to retire early with full unreduced benefits if they complete a specific number of years of service. By doing this the company is subsidizing a large portion of the employee's pension by eliminating the actuarial adjustment (the difference in the amount of monthly benefit an employee would receive at normal retirement age versus an early retirement age if there is no subsidy - Example: An employee could receive $1,000 per month at age 65, but if he/she elects to retire at age 55 he/she would receive $500 per month for life if they had not completed the required number of years of service to receive the unreduced benefit of $1,000 per month).

IV. Should the Alternate Payee receive a pro-rata share of any early retirement supplements, interim supplements or temporary benefits that become payable to the Participant which are not considered by the Plan Administrator to be a part of the Participant's accrued benefit.?

_____ Yes _____ No

(Most defined benefit pension plans have early retirement incentives that allow certain eligible employee's to retire early with additional supplemental, interim or temporary benefits. Example: If an employee retires at age 55, the plan could pay a supplemental benefit to age 62, at which time the employee would be able to collect Social Security.)

B. ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS ONLY IF THE PARTICIPANT IS STILL EMPLOYED OR HAS TERMINATED EMPLOYMENT BUT IS NOT RECEIVING RETIREMENT BENEFITS:

I. Percent or Dollar Amount of Employee's monthly retirement benefit to be paid by the Plan to the Alternate Payee?

Dollar Amount: $ _____

Percent: _____ %

_____ Option #1: Percent of Total as of a Specific Date which is _____
The Alternate Payee will receive a percentage of the total accrued benefit as of a Specific Date.

_____ Option #2: Percent of the Marital Portion as of the Date of Retirement: The Marital Property Component shall be determined by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of months of credited service the Employee earned during the marriage and the denominator of which is the total number of months of credited service earned through the Date of Retirement.

_____ Option #3: Percent of the Marital Portion as of the Marriage End Date: The Marital Property Component shall be determined by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of months of credited service the Employee earned during the marriage and the denominator of which is the total number of months of credited service earned through the Marriage End Date.

_____ Option #4: Percent of the Marital Portion as of a Specific Date which is _____
The Marital Property Component shall be determined by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of months of credited service the earned from the Date of Marriage to a Specific Date and the denominator is the total number of months of credited service earned through the Specific Date.

_____ Option #5: Percent of Total as of Marriage End Date: The Alternate Payee will receive a percentage of the total accrued benefit as of the Date Marriage Ended. (This option includes any pre-marital credited service)

II. Should the Alternate Payee receive a pro-rata share of any Post-retirement Cost of Living Adjustments if offered by the Plan?

_____ Yes _____ No

III. Should the Alternate Payee receive a pro-rata share of any Early Retirement Subsidies?

_____ Yes _____ No

(Most defined benefit pension plans have early retirement provisions that allow an employee to retire early with full unreduced benefits if they complete a specific number of years of service. By doing this the company is subsidizing a large portion of the employee's pension by eliminating the actuarial adjustment (the difference in the amount of monthly benefit an employee would receive at normal retirement age verses an early retirement age if there is no subsidy - Example: An employee could receive $1,000 per month at age 65, but if he/she elects to retire at age 55 he/she would receive $500 per month for life if they had not completed the required number of years of service to receive the unreduced benefit of $1,000 per month).

IV. Should the Alternate Payee receive a pro-rata share of any early retirement supplements, interim supplements or temporary benefits that become payable to the Participant which are not considered by the Plan Administrator to be a part of the Participant's accrued benefit? (This question is N/A if the Participant has terminated employment)

_____ Yes _____ No

(Most defined benefit pension plans have early retirement incentives that allow certain eligible employee's to retire early with additional supplemental, interim or temporary benefits. Example: If an employee retires at age 55, the plan could pay a supplemental benefit to age 62, at which time the employee would be able to collect Social Security.)
